

I am very concerned that the proposal to give preference to LPFM stations over FM translators may cause us to lose our K-Love signal (93.3 FM, based in Walla Walla Washington). K-Love provides wholesome Christian music and positive programming that is truly non-denominational. I found K-Love on my radio a couple of years ago when I grew tired of the cynical and often negative programming I was listening to on commercial stations. I especially like K-Love because they do not push any particular church or beliefs, but do offer value based suggestions and encouragement. This kind of programming is important to me, and my family, but also is a service to our community, offering a family-friendly listening option. I know I am not alone in this opinion, because I have recently noticed K-Love being played in the background in small, family owned businesses in my community. Please, do not take away this service.
